Joleene Flores is an Associate in Tyson & Mendes' Orange County office. Her practice focuses on general liability, premises liability, products liability, personal injury, surety law, construction, medical malpractice, toxic and mass torts, and employment law.

Ms. Flores works hard for her clients. She wants each client who seeks Tyson & Mendes' help to get the best representation possible. Ms. Flores is a member of the California Lawyers Association.

Ms. Flores obtained her J.D. and graduated cum laude from Whittier Law School. While at Whittier, Ms. Flores was on the Dean's List several times, was repeatedly recognized for her writing, and was selected as a senior staff editor for both the Whittier Law Review and the Whittier Law Journal of Child & Family Advocacy. Ms. Flores obtained her B.A. in English from the California State University, Los Angeles, where she was in the top 15% of her class.

When she is not in the office, Ms. Flores enjoys traveling, viewing art, visiting museums, and spending time with her family.
